FoodRecovery.org Set to Reduce Food Waste In Gainesville

Over 2 million people in Florida lack access to healthy food and are considered food insecure, which is astonishing when more than a third of our food supply ends up in landfills. Getting donated wholesome food to those in need is a solvable problem, and FoodRecovery.org is here to help.

FoodRecovery.org is at the forefront of addressing this critical issue. As a pioneering non-profit organization, this online platform bridges the gap between excess food and those in need by connecting food donors with local food banks and charities. Their innovative approach ensures that surplus food, which would otherwise be discarded, reaches people facing food insecurity.

Whether you're a restaurant, grocery store, farm, or caterer, partnering with FoodRecovery.org is simple. They provide resources and support to help streamline the donation process, ensuring that food is safely and efficiently redirected to those in need. You can sign up on their website and start making a difference immediately.

Visit FoodRecovery.org to learn more about how you can join the movement and be part of the solution. Together, we can turn surplus into sustenance and build a more sustainable future for all.
